R.W. HALL '74

1974

WRUW-FM NEWS-a small group of people who care about what is going on around them. Their job is to convey to you, the listener, the latest developments of all sorts, whether they be out of CWRU, Cleveland, the U.S., or Mars. Presently, we are working on the latter two, but hopefully, within a week or two, more will be done with local news.

Let's look in on a typical WRUWreporter, interviewing CWRU visiting scholar, Dean Learned Books, from the Princeton of the Mid-West:

Reporter: Dean Books, welcome to the Harvard of the Mid-West.

Books: Thank you very much, son. I wish I could say it's nice to be here, but you know how Cleveland is.

Reporter: Ah, yes. Now, Dean Books, what brings you to this great institution of ours, so far from your part of the world?

Books: Well, these days, I'll do anything for money. You see, right now my school is in the process of becoming primarily a pre-podiatry place of education, and I have to raise enough money to make up for the losses we will incur while making our transformation.

Reporter: About how long do you expect this transformation will take?

Books: Not too long. 15 or 20 years.

Reporter: By specializing in this important field, you must be phasing out a tremendous number of courses. What kind of new courses are you instituting?

Books: Well, for one, Foot Care. You'd be surprised at the number of people who have dirty feet. And do you realize how many people do not use foot deodorant? It's disgusting. There is nothing worse than a smelly foot.

Reporter: Thank you very much. Dean Books. It has been a pleasure speaking with you.

If you'd like to be a part of this current, exciting scene at CWRU, to be able to interview important people, and to keep up with what's happening, become a part of the WRUW-FM News Team. You will find the work quite satisfying.
